

sinclair's intention to air a highly partisan film in a last minute attempt to influence an election is a violation of their responsibility in using our publicly owned airwaves. How can the FCC sit idly by claiming there is no precedent to act on the public's behalf?